PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU JAYANTI

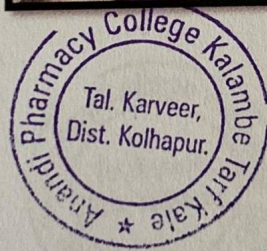

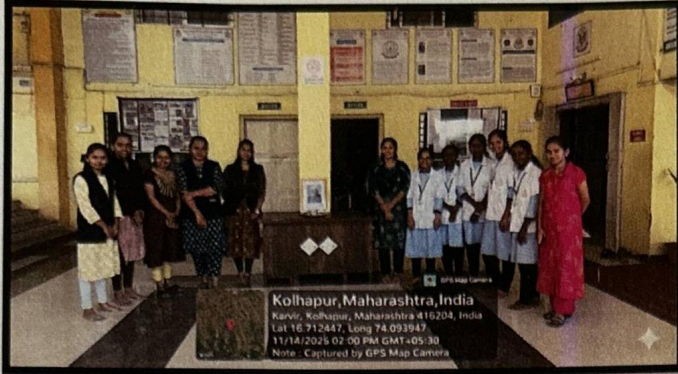

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru Jayanti is celebrated on 14 November every year to honor the birth anniversary of India's first Prime Minister, Jawaharlal Nehru. He played a major role in shaping modern India through his vision of democracy, scientific progress, and secularism. Nehru was deeply fond of children and believed they were the nation's future, which is why his birthday is also celebrated as Children's Day across India. On this day, people remember his contributions to India's freedom struggle, his leadership in building a strong nation, and his love for young minds through various cultural programs, tributes, and educational activities. His deep affection for children earned him the title Chacha Nehru, and therefore his birthday is also observed as Children's Day, highlighting the importance of nurturing and educating young minds. Schools and institutions mark the day with cultural programs, speeches, and activities that inspire students to learn about his ideals and legacy.

At Anandi Pharmacy College, Nehru Jayanti is celebrated with enthusiasm to inspire students with his ideals and vision. The program usually includes speeches on Nehru's life, his contribution to India's development, and his emphasis on education and youth empowerment. Through these activities, the college aims to strengthen students' understanding of Nehru's legacy and encourage them to contribute positively to the community.
