READING INSPIRATION DAY

Reading Inspiration Day (Vachan Prerana Din) is celebrated every year on October 15th to promote the habit of reading among people, especially students. This day marks the birth anniversary of Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam, the former President of India, a great scientist, and an inspiring teacher. Dr. Kalam always encouraged young minds to dream big, gain knowledge, and read more to achieve success in life.

Reading Inspiration Day holds great importance as it encourages people, especially students, to develop the habit of reading and lifelong learning. It is celebrated on October 15th, the birth anniversary of Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam, who believed that reading is the foundation of knowledge and success. The day reminds us that books are our true companions — they open our minds, strengthen our imagination, and help us understand the world better. By celebrating this day, schools and colleges inspire students to spend more time with books instead of gadgets, to think creatively, and to grow intellectually. Reading Inspiration Day thus helps in building a knowledgeable, thoughtful, and responsible generation. The Government of Maharashtra started celebrating this day in 2015 to honor his legacy and to spread the message of lifelong learning. On this day, schools and colleges organize various activities such as reading sessions, book exhibitions, essay competitions, and discussions about books and authors.
